Besides, SME is also poised to contribute to the practice outreach of IIT Jodhpur by being an innovation hub.

It is my great pleasure to welcome you to the latest initiative in a holistic combination of management and technology education and research. The School of Management and Entrepreneurship (SME) at IIT Jodhpur aspires to revolutionize management education and professional training in India to produce tech-centric future-ready management professionals and thought leaders with a human touch. The School is situated in the sprawling 850-acre campus of IIT Jodhpur, known for its research prowess as India's leading institution. The School currently offers full-fledged programs at the minor, degree, and doctoral levels with a cutting-edge curriculum, including its flagship programs of the MBA in General Management and the Tech-MBA. SME's rigorous Ph.D. program aims to produce well-trained business and management academics and research professionals. The School also serves the broader interests of the IIT Jodhpur by offering a Minor in Management and a Minor in Entrepreneurship for the undergraduate students.

The School also has tie-ups with some of the leading business schools abroad. It offers dual degree programs for the MBA students (first-year MBA at SME, IIT Jodhpur, and the second year specialized Masters at the partner B-School with opportunities to pursue internships and full-time employment in the USA post the dual degree). These currently include the School of Business at the University at Albany, State University of New York, Brandeis International Business School, Brandeis University, Boston; and the School of Business, George Washington University, Washington.

Unique to a new academic entity, in just half a year's journey, the School has already onboarded more than sixteen Full-Time faculty drawn from the country's best institutions. The faculty group also includes a host of luminaries from academic and practice worlds drawn from India and abroad as Professors of Practice, Adjunct Faculty, Visiting Professors, and Scholars-in-Residence. This intellectual capital, coupled with the curious minds, is poised to contribute to the nation's overall development through their academic and professional endeavours.

SME's advisory council consists of a phalanx of industrial and academic leaders. With this powerhouse of experience and knowledge guiding the School, we are sure to make SME a top-level management and entrepreneurial center of international recognition. Alongside management education, the School also lays extensive emphasis on training and preparing students to position themselves as problem solvers and job creators through cutting-edge entrepreneurship pedagogy and practice.
