STI HUB ANNUAL REPORT

The Science Technology and Innovation (STI) Hub of IIT Jodhpur has started creating impactful changes in the overall quality of life of the Scheduled Caste (SC) communities located in the Thar Desert region of India. The project has been running in 5 districts of North- Western Rajasthan namely Barmer, Bikaner, Jaisalmer, Jodhpur, and Nagaur.

STI focuses on empowering the most vulnerable and marginalized sections of the society. Initiatives include creating and maintaining sustainable livelihood opportunities, ensuring nutritional intake through homesteading by low-cost ceramic irrigation systems, improving the availability of clean drinking water using g- filters, and proper management of animal dung. The STI hub project can be accessed on the web through the CETSD website https://cetsd.iitj.ac.in/?page\_id=1319. You may drive in to STI hub at IIT Jodhpur, Karwar, Jodhpur, Rajasthan, India following the map <https://maps.app.goo.gl/4Jm327mvznvUDwrN8>.

Creating a market ecosystem at the village level where local communities make products for local consumption promoting a circular economy while enhancing the living standards of local artisans has been envisioned by the STI project. The project has helped to bring financial empowerment to women from these locations by making them microentrepreneurs. STI hub training beneficiaries are registered on Market Mirchi App (RuTAG IIT Bombay) as well as on <https://kalaanubhav.in/>, a platform of Jodhpur City Knowledge and Innovation cluster under Office of PSA, GoI, India.

STI has made significant inroads in achieving conservation of indigenous knowledge financial inclusion and systems, empowerment of women.

The STI Project sought to integrate simple yet effective technological interventions into the traditional craft of rope-making and the production of associated artifacts. The introduction of mechanized equipment, including both manual and electronic ratt machines, significantly reduced the drudgery involved in the process. These machines operate efficiently with both local natural fibers and recycled cloth fibers, enabling the creation of a diverse range of value-added products. The combination of these technologies with new design innovations—targeted toward local and regional market demands—has encouraged greater participation and adoption of the initiative among the beneficiaries.

Beneficiaries are now actively engaged in managing natural fiber resources and producing value-added products from locally available materials. The project thus fosters the conservation and revitalization of indigenous knowledge systems while creating sustainable livelihood opportunities. Moreover, it directly contributes to the achievement of Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) 8 on decent work and economic growth, and indirectly advances SDGs 1, 2, and 3, which focus on poverty reduction, zero hunger, and good health and well-being. In addition, the work undertaken through the STI Hub aligns with the objectives of national initiatives such as the Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhuyday Yojana (PM-AJAY), which aims to promote poverty alleviation and the social empowerment of Scheduled Caste communities.

Neck Pillow

This project focuses on the development of a neck pillow using desert cotton to revive its traditional use in the Marwar region while harnessing its medicinal properties as a functional textile. The product integrates indigenous knowledge with contemporary utility, positioning desert cotton as both a comfort and wellness material.

The neck pillows also serve as a livelihood opportunity for local women in the Marwar region. Women are involved at every stage of the value chain, including raw material collection, material processing, filling preparation, and stitching of the pillow covers. This community-led production model establishes a holistic and sustainable product life cycle, promoting economic empowerment, skill preservation, and environmentally responsible practices.

DORO TIRRI PATIYA GAME

Doro Patiya is a simple and engaging thread-based game made using a wooden frame and evenly fixed metal nails. In this game, coloured thread is wound around the nails in different directions to create various patterns, shapes, and designs. The nails act as guiding points, allowing players to form straight lines, diagonal lines, and geometric figures. This activity helps improve concentration, creativity, hand-eye coordination, and fine motor skills in children. Made from easily available materials, Doro Patiya is an educational and eco-friendly game that combines traditional play with learning.

LUMI CHAKRI GAME

Lumi Chakri is a Geneva mechanism-inspired educational thread-twisting game made using a wooden disc with a central hole and multiple cuts along the edges. In this activity, three yarn strands are passed through the center of the disc and placed into separate cuts, then twisted in a fixed sequence to form a strong three-ply yarn. The game helps develop hand-eye coordination, fine motor skills, patience, and concentration in children. Lumi Chakri also introduces basic concepts of twisting, pattern formation, and traditional yarn-making in a simple and engaging manner.

G-Filters: Household Water Filters

The STI project has facilitated the provision of equipment and training for the production of ceramic G-filters among potter communities organized in clusters. The G-filter is an efficient and cost-effective water purification solution that can be manufactured locally. Through this initiative, STI contributes to achieving targets 6.1, 6.7, and 6.8 of Goal 6—Clean Water and Sanitation—under the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (UN SDGs).

Appreciation is extended to partner organizations including Arpan Seva Sansthan, Rupayan Sansthan, Awada Foundation, Panchla Siddha, Eco-Art Kaushal Foundation, Anubandh Vrid Jain Kutir, Surya Foundation, Divine India Youth Association, Naam Foundation, Hamara Sahas Trust, along with the Block-level Social Security Offices in Jodhpur District, for their vital on-ground support in conducting skill development sessions under this project. Acknowledgment is also due to the Unnat Bharat Abhiyan Regional Coordinating Institute (RCI) at IIT Jodhpur for its continuous support and encouragement.

SSPVs and G-filters are produced using the same fabrication equipment, with the primary distinction lying in the proportion of raw materials used. The Sub-Surface Porous Vessel (SSPV) technology involves a frustum-shaped ceramic vessel designed as an irrigation system particularly suited for arid regions. This system ensures high water-use efficiency, maintaining soil moisture for extended periods. Moreover, as water delivery is confined to the root zone, evaporation losses are eliminated. An additional advantage of the SSPV system is that it operates without any requirement for external energy input.

The adoption of SSPV technology in irrigation aligns with the objectives of water-use efficiency and nutrient management outlined under the National Mission for Sustainable Agriculture (NMSA). In arid areas such as North-Western Rajasthan, its use directly enhances the nutritional intake of rural communities through homesteading and small-scale cultivation. Furthermore, given its irrigation efficiency and negligible evaporation loss, the technology holds significant potential for promoting afforestation in desert environments. At STI, comprehensive training has been provided across all clusters for the production and use of both SSPVs and G-filters.
