In Memoriam - Pawan Meena, Class of 2014 of B.Tech. (CSE), IIT Jodhpur

Pawan Meena was a beloved husband, father, son and friend who always provided a shoulder when you needed one. Anyone who had the pleasure of knowing Pawan will describe him to be the most calm, giving man with a heart of pure gold. Adored by all those who knew him, he was the gel that held so many together. He was one of the most organised persons I have ever come across. A man with vision, Pawan always had his life planned, from education to marriage to entrepreneur to being a full time working dad. Tragically, Covid-19 ruined all of the well thought out future plans. A born winner through grit, determination and bravery, Pawan, sadly lost his battle to Covid-19.

Pawan was an ultimate champ and a great jugaadu, who strived to be the best in anything he did. This includes his education at IIT Jodhpur in Computer Science and Engineering, turning an entrepreneur at the age of 24, becoming a great Engineer at Toppr and being a Senior Engineer at Kuku FM. Beyond all that, he was a very compassionate team member. Although this article provides a basic view of his life, he was so much more than that! The love Pawan had for his family and friends was incredible and equally matched back by them. He leaves behind a wife and a loving 3 year old son.
